

The Tennessee Valley Old Time Fiddlers Convention was first started with a few musicians meeting in a rural Limestone County kitchen. These musicians decided it was time to bring fiddling out of the kitchens and onto the stage. After a surprisingly enthusiastic response in two local fiddling contests held in Athens as a test, the Tennessee Valley Old Time Fiddlers Association was formed in the summer of 1967 and the annual convention was established.

The Tennessee Valley Old Time Fiddlers Convention has been named by tourism groups as one of the top 20 attractions in the Southeast. It has long been known as the "Granddaddy of Midsouth Fiddlers Conventions" for its role in reviving the tradition of competition in old time music.

The Convention annually brings some 200 contestants and an estimated 15,000 folk music fans to the grounds of historic Athens State University located in Athens, Alabama.

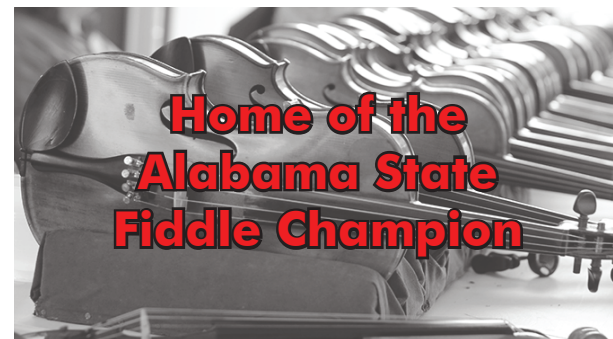

Craftsmen from around the area display their arts and crafts at the annual arts and crafts fair held in conjunction with the musical competition.
